A View from the Pew: what Heroes!

The Parish will celebrate this coming weekend, and next, First Holy Communion Masses. What a great blessing for the Parish that 33 children will receive Holy Communion for the first time, despite the pandemic. This is a great achievement for all involved: the diocese producing the preparation materials, the Clergy for organising the outline of the programme and the Parish Catechist Mary Clewes, supported by Deacon David, for guiding the parents. Because the heroes in all this have been the families: they have prepared their own children at home using the diocesan resources. The children and parents have attended at least two zoom meetings but the rest of the catechesis has been done in the home. Is this the way forward for future First Sacrament Preparation?

To all our young people making First Holy communion; they are heroes too! Let us keep these children and their families in our prayers that their faith will grow and their love of the sacrament deepen. Congratulations to:

Bartholomew, Mary, Milan, Natalia, Heba, Jia, Wilfred, Elena, April, Pierre, Viktoria, Amal, Henry, Alexander, Kaya, Maksymillian, Nina, Lilly, Deepika, Klaudia, Daniel, Jonathan, Euan, Aimee, Charlotte, Sean, Rosa, Alfie, Sebastian, Maja, Jakub, Oliwia, Tobias.

We invite your contributions to 'View from the Pews' especially to share your faith/life experiences or contribute a book or film review/recommendation, a favourite recipe or prayer? Then please send us your experiences and recommendations to office.staelred@dioceseofleeds.org.uk or speak to Deacon David.
